Newspapers.com by Ancestry
https://www.newspapers.com/image/39269054/

Downloaded on May 16, 2025

SOCIETY

THE study of Spanish is taking up many an hour in the day's program of many a busy woman, for Spanish is the very latest thing in languages. Some-time ago, when some people went to school, German was the favorite subject for study. When the war laid its heavy hand upon the country, it suddenly dawned upon all patriotic persons, that the knowledge of the German tongue was not a thing to be proud of.

French books and teachers and classes began to spring up like wildflowers in the spring and all the women in the land began to get ready to tell the news in French, so all the boys who would come home some day, from France, The German language immediately became a dead language.

But another day has dawned and French has been put away with the other souvenirs brought home by the boys in khaki. Like a cloudburst from a summer sky, has come the realization that a Spanish-speaking nation lives next door, so the study of Spanish is the proper caper, and all the fashionable ladies are spending their morninge learning to read and write and cipher in Spanish.

The Ladies' Guild of St. Luke's Episcopal Church will give a social Friday evening at the home of Mrs. J. M. Newman, 1406 Monterey Street, when the following program will be given: Reading, Florence Boyd and Tommie Hazel Hall; violin solo, Mrs. W. F. Coleman; vocal duo, Miss Elizabeth Herndon and Oswald Martyn; piano solo, Flora Bale.

Refreshments will be served at the conclusion of the program.

Miss Belle Mitchell entertained with a luncheon in the Fletcher Tea Room today, in honor of Miss Edna Louise Rowe. Pink sweetpeas adorned the table and hand-painted handkerchief linen were the plate favors. Covers were laid for Misses Rowe, Estelle Sharpe, Adelaide Wheeler, Bess Sperry, Kathleen Willis, Barbara Brown, Madeline Henderson, Agnes Terrell, Thera Maxwell, Ruth Jaskin, Mrs. A. C. Mitchell and the hostess.

The board of directors of the San Antonio Symphony Society will meet at 10:30 o'clock next Wednesday morning in the oak room of the St. Anthony, when the annual election of officers will be held. This meeting was called for yesterday, but had to be postponed because of the unfavorable weather.

Miss Agnes Donohoe left Monday for New York, where she will spend the summer with her sister, Miss Mary Browne Donohoe.

Miss Emma Reed left yesterday for New York, where she will visit her sister, Mrs. E. Tucker Craig. Later she will go to New Canaan, Conn., for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lapham at their summer home.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Witt have arrived from Ashland, Ky., where they were married May 5. Mrs. Witt is remembered here as Miss Harriet Moore, who visited Misses Margaret and Katherine McGowen last winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Witt are at home at 201 West French place, until their home in Terrell Hills is completed.

Miss Julia Belle Mitchell will leave Sunday for Kerrville, where she will visit Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Willis at the St. Charles Hotel, for several weeks.

Miss Louise Long entertained with a dancing party last evening at the Women's Club, in honor of her cousin, Forrest Reed Jr., a member of the June class of the Main Avenue High School. An orchestra furnished music for the dancers and refreshments were served during the evening. Attending the hostess were: Misses Reed, E. P. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Van Sperry, Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Boyle, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Reed, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Long, Mrs. H. P. Jordan and Mrs. Minnie Merritt.

Miss Gladys Phillips has gone to Angleton for a two weeks' visit with relatives.

Miss Eleanor Taylor will arrive tomorrow from Ward-Belmont College, Nashville, Tenn., and will be accompanied by her classmates, Misses Ruby Dun and Bess Murphy of New York.

Mrs. W. H. Flesher and Mrs. W. S. Irwin will entertain with a miscellaneous shower Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Irwin, on Carson Street, in honor of their sister, Miss Virginia Williams.

Mrs. J. H. Kirkpatrick left yesterday for her summer home at Grand Lake, Colo. En route she will visit in Denver and Colorado Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wheeler, Mrs. George Cummins, Mrs. Eli Howell, Mrs. James H. Crider and Mrs. Byron Eastburn are among those who will participate in the "Twin Sisters" operetta this evening at the Main Avenue High School, for the benefit of the Women's Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A.

Miss Grace McClanahan and Miss Florabel Townsend arrive in New York. Miss McClanahan will stay dancing throughout the summer and it is probable that Miss Townsend will join a party sailing for Europe.

Mrs. John L. Henning of Lake Charles, La., is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bender, on Pine Street.

Miss Rowena Nye has returned from Dallas, where she has been visiting Mrs. Allora Austin and Mrs. Emery Watts.

The wedding of Robert D. Rosin and Miss Margaret Barter took place at 7:30 o'clock this morning in St. Mark's Church, Rev. Clarence Horner, the bride's cousin, reading the ceremony. John Hinkemeyr, best man, was the only attendant. The bride wore a tailored suit of navy blue tricotine. An informal breakfast was served at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Mary Barter, to members of the family and bridal party.

Sylvan Berliner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Berliner, will leave tomorrow for Annapolis, to entry into the United States Naval Academy. Mr. Berliner recently passed his examination for admission into the academy, making the highest average at the University of Minnesota.

Miss Mary Bryant will give a lecture on "Italian Art" at 4 o'clock this afternoon in the auditorium of the Crumlin Convent. It was originally planned to have this lecture Friday.

Miss Harriet Bell will leave Saturday for her home in St. Joseph, Mo., after a visit with Miss Virginia Wheat.

Mrs. Lulu Richardson Dean entertained with a dinner on the St. Anthony Roof last evening, in honor of Charles Diaz, of Mobeetie, and Miss Ruth Dunlap, whose wedding is scheduled for June 16. Covers were laid for Mr. Diaz, Mrs. Alfred Doetler, Mrs. Eli Hertzberg, Mrs. Hom. Dan, Col. Harvey Miller, Eugene Mayo and the hostess.

The Wednesday Bridge Club met yesterday with Mrs. Mark Wright. Mrs. W. Geffinger won the prize, a handsome set of Bohemian glassware. Mrs. C. J. Dollinger was the guest prize. Attending were Mrs. Geffinger and Mrs. Harry Willis were club guests.

Mrs. Howard Meyrs will entertain the club next week at the Tea-for-Two Room.

Mrs. Alfred Doetler will entertain with an out-of-doors party at her country home at Huron Saturday in honor of Miss Tillie.

Miss Angelo Wash entertained at bridge this today at her home in French Place, in honor of Miss Elizabeth Gibson, whose wedding to Standard Hoffman of New York will take place Saturday. A tall silver baskets of white larkspur marked the corner of the table and a smaller basket of the same blossoms was placed at each partner. The place cards were hand-painted with pictures of brides and the bridal note was further emphasized in the lace which made heart-shaped and silver favors were given as souvenirs.

Guests were Misses Fay Olive Coleman, Miss Ada Johnson of St. Louis, Miss Sarrah Kleberg of the King Ranch, Miss Margaret Velie of Moline and Chicago, Miss Adelaide Campbell, Miss Dorothea Barnaby of Greencastle, Ind., Mrs. John Neal Hodges, Mrs. Robert Simpson Kilgo, Mrs. Charles Glover Wood and the hostess.

for the Blest-Urian wedding next week.

Mrs. Joseph Emerson Smith, who is here for a 10 days' visit with relatives, will leave Sunday night for her home in Denver, Colo. She will be accompanied by her sister, Miss Lilla Gill.

Dr. and Mrs. Adolph Zorkt will entertain this evening with a bar party at the Majestic, followed by refreshments and dancing on the Roof Garden. The couple will be complimented to their daughter, Lieutenant Adolph Zorkt, graduate of the Medical Academy, at Fort Sam Houston, and their sweetheart, Misses Josephine Zorkt, Julia Cooper, Annie D. Gill, Kathleen Campbell, Marian Binder, Frances Kelsey, Robert Davis, Robert Berry, Frank Jordan, Henry Bass, Leonard Bass and Douglas Travers. Assisting the hosts in chaperoning the young people will be Mrs. L. Zorkt.

Mrs. L. W. Russell and her niece, Miss Alice Lee Whitney, left this morning for a visit in Houston. While there they will motor to Galveston for a short stay at the Galvez.

San Antonio Chapter No. 3, O. E. S., will hold its public installation of officers at 8 o'clock this evening. The meeting will be open to all members of the order and their families.

Mrs. Simon Kaspel entertained with a miscellaneous shower Tuesday afternoon at her home on Cedar Street, in honor of Miss Theresa Kaspel, whose wedding to Max Weiss will be celebrated with Shavuot Sunset. Games was the game of the afternoon, prizes being awarded Misses Lillian Strauss, Mrs. Mowlsey, Mrs. Rees and Miss Hodges.

Harold Simanel of Dallas is the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Simanel.

To newspapers: The Hammett Store, 204-206 West Commerce Street, is selling their last date. Offerings in will paper, picture frames, etc. (Adv.)

CITY BRIEFS

Arnold & Cosby, attorneys at law, have moved their offices to the top floor of the Central Trust Building.—(Adv.)

Applies for Passport.

Application for a passport to the City of Mexico, and to Tampico, for the purpose of transacting legal business, has been made by Judge George W. Hightower.

Passed Forged Money Orders.

Pleading guilty to passing three forged postoffice money orders, Arthur F. Lawrence, Early Field's champion pool player, was sentenced by Judge West on presentation of District Attorney Dabney Gibbs, to the effect of the fact that he had been in confinement for some time pending trial. The money orders were for $15, $5 and $2. Lawrence, known as the boy pool shot at Early Field, said the money orders came into his possession in winnings from the men he played with and that he had no knowledge where he passed them, that they were forged.

Uses Government's Wood.

E. S. Davis pleaded guilty to appropriating to his own use several cords of wood belonging to the Government and was sentenced to serve 90 days in the county jail.

"Y" Man En Route Home.

F. C. Holloway, who is in charge of Army Y. M. C. A. work in El Paso, passed through San Antonio yesterday on his way to Houston, where he goes to visit his mother. While here Mr. Holloway conferred with Mr. P. Applegate and L. B. Williamson at the Southern Department Y. M. C. A. headquarters relative to the establishment of a downtown soldiers' club in El Paso similar to the club on Avenue E, Mr. Holloway was with the Army Y. M. C. A. at Camp Travis in its early days, but was transferred to Fort Bliss about two years ago.

Guardsmen Await Orders.

The 1st Squadron of the 2d Texas Cavalry has been called to assemble at the National Guard Armory, Schofield and Commerce Streets, at 9 o'clock Friday morning "to await orders," in accordance with an order received here last night by Capt. H. E. Eckerson, regimental adjutant and ranking officer of the 1st Squadron, from Brig. Gen. F. Mathews, whose headquarters are at Houston. While it is not known officially what the orders will be, it is generally thought to be a result of the report that martial law has been declared in Galveston as a result of the dock strike.

Red Ball Freight Installed.

Fast freight service to Rio Grande points will be instituted here beginning Saturday by the San Antonio, Uvalde & Gulf Railroad in conjunction with the Gulf Coast Lines. Freight leaving here at 5 p. m. will reach Brownsville at 11 a. m. the following day and be unloaded on the next morning. In order to take care of the extra service there will be an extra freight put on the Brownsville line, officials stated.

THE JUGGLER :: By Juanita Hamel

HOW many maids, if all were brought to be judged, would be acquitted of the charge of playing with hearts? For every maid finds the man's heart—and some to many hearts. And many are the men whose hearts have suffered at the hands of some fair, thoughtless maid. But though she be ever so clever a juggler, it is well to remember that playing with hearts is like playing with fire. You know that old, old saying 'bout playing with fire and getting burned. Yes?

HOLDING A HUSBAND

--Adele Garrison's New Phase of--

Revelations of a Wife

The Way Bess Dean "Disclosed Her Hand."

As I saw Bess Dean I wondered at my own stupidity in not recognizing her as a rival. "She looks at me as if I had war out of her eyes and knife in her heart," I told myself, and I grew up in me a feeling of apparent selfishness to be herself, although she confiders it to her eyes and never lets it appear at her lips. In Bess Dean's most effective manner with refractory pupils, she said it unemotionally, not only upon the children in her care, but upon any one who happened to amuse her, or whom she desired to make uncomfortable.

A complex personality is Bess Dean. Unusually good looking, dashing and individualistic, with an air of dignity unsolicited, she would be positively stately, although chance-wise is the last party in the world one would imagine in a school room. But she is marvelously effective there, and has the reputation of turning out higher percentage at examinations than any one else in the school. She has a perfect discipline, and her pupils certainly know intelligently the particular part of the curriculum which they are in. The children hate her, certainly as she claims, and they are afraid that in charming politeness she is giving the children "hell" for reading or study—which, after all, are the most necessary results of teaching—Bess Dean Ella dignantly.

Yet Bess Dean considers it failure. Her attitude toward her pupils is summed up in her favorite epithet, "uninspiring, troublesome brats," and the first adjective is the plumb line by which she measures every one she meets. If a man or woman, especially a man, be "interesting" Bess Dean cultivates that acquaintance with a vigor and a charm of personality, and death in the underworld can not her personality.

"But, I'm considered, on fairly "interesting" I had known ever since I met her, but she confirmed Lizzy all more so. I had also realized rather forcibly upon one or two occasions. The knowledge had not engendered my rather slender liking for the girl, and several other revelations of the absolute selfishness, the complete disregard of the humanity of those which her careless, good-natured manner concealed, had made me almost actively dislike her.

I fancy she reciprocates my feeling, at any rate we have seen each other not one or twice since I finished my year as her colleague in the Dayton School. Her call upon me was a surprise, although I suspected it was simply a pretext with her to please Miss Helcombe. After, for all her cynicism, is stanch in her friendships, and she has always liked Miss Dean since childhood. I think she has unconsciously brought out and emphasized the best points in the other woman's character. Lizzy Helcombe is a generous soul, and the other woman the very best friend she has had. Lizzy's whole heart goes out to her, in Bess Dean's most effective manner with refractory pupils, she said it unemotionally, not only upon the children in her care, but upon any one who happened to amuse her, or whom she desired to make uncomfortable.

A complex personality is Bess Dean. Unusually good looking, dashing and individualistic, with an air of dignity unsolicited, she would be positively stately—although chance-wise is the last party in the world one would imagine in a school room. But she is marvelously effective there, and has the reputation of turning out higher percentage at examinations than any one else in the school. She has a perfect discipline, and her pupils certainly know intelligently the particular part of the curriculum which they are in. The children hate her certainly as she claims, and they are afraid that in charming politeness she is giving the children "hell" for reading or study—which, after all, are the most necessary results of teaching—Bess Dean Ella dignantly.

Yet Bess Dean considers it failure. Her attitude toward her pupils is summed up in her favorite epithet, "uninspiring, troublesome brats," and the first adjective is the plumb line by which she measures every one she meets. If a man or woman, especially a man, be "interesting" Bess Dean cultivates that acquaintance with a vigor and a charm of personality, and death in the underworld can not her personality.

"But, I'm considered, on fairly "interesting" I had known ever since I met her, but she confirmed Lizzy all more so. I had also realized rather forcibly upon one or two occasions. The knowledge had not engendered my rather slender liking for the girl, and several other revelations of the absolute selfishness, the complete disregard of the humanity of those which her careless, good-natured manner concealed, had made me almost actively dislike her.

I fancy she reciprocates my feeling, at any rate we have seen each other not one or twice since I finished my year as her colleague in the Dayton School. Her call upon me was a surprise, although I suspected it was simply a pretext with her to please Miss Helcombe. After, for all her cynicism, is stanch in her friendships, and she has always liked Miss Dean since childhood. I think she has unconsciously brought out and emphasized the best points in the other woman's character. Lizzy Helcombe is a generous soul, and the other woman the very best friend she has had. Lizzy's whole heart goes out to her, in

EXCITING CHASE ENDS BY CAPTURE OF NEGRO CONVICT

In an exciting chase in which several shots were fired at him by officers, A. J. Jones an escaped negro convict, was captured yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock by city detectives after he had run about a mile through the city. He was caught in the vicinity of the Black Hotel and lodged in the city jail to be held for the proper officials. The chase led from a house on Camp Street, where the negro was first seen, down Turbyne Street and through the San Fernando Cemetery.

Jones was sentenced in this county last year to 20 years in the State prison on a criminal assault charge. He escaped from Huntsville Farm, near Rosenberg, Tex., in July, and was brought to the city Monday night by Deputy Sheriff Gilbert.

Jones was received by Detective Captain A. Van Riper yesterday afternoon about 3:30 o'clock that the negro was at 320 Camp Street. The captain got a force consisting of John Camp, W. J. Berry, Will Grove, John Doehe and Louis Cardenas, surrounded the house. The officers, armed with pistols, were armed with shotguns and rifles. When called upon to surrender, the negro made an unexpected leap through the doorway and ran in a direction from the house.

Jones was fired upon by one of the officers attempted to stop him, but the shot in the pistol failed to explode.

Love has a long criminal record, according to the detective. Numerous burglaries and petty thefts have been attributed to him. Let he has always been hard to capture.

OH! MY NICE HAIR IS ALL FALLING OUT

Hurry! Let "Danderine" save your hair and double its beauty

To stop falling hair at once and rid the scalp of every particle of dandruff, get a small bottle of delightful "Danderine" at any drug or toilet counter for a few cents, pour a little in your hand and rub it into the scalp. After several applications the hair usually stops coming out and you can't find any dandruff. Help your hair grow long, thick and strong and become soft, glossy and abundant.—(Adv.)

Good Night Stories By Blanche Silver

CHEERY CRICKET HELPS BABY GRASSHOPPER

One day as Tiny Ant was taking her two baby sisters out for a ride, she heard someone sobbing in the grasses by the side of the road.

Tiny Ant told the children to sit very still so they wouldn't fall, and ran over to the spot where the noise came from. There, sitting on a blade of grass, was a baby little baby grasshopper, sobbing bitterly.

"Well, of all things!" cried Tiny Ant. "Are you hurt?"

"Worse than that," sobbed Baby Grasshopper. "I've ripped my baby coat right down the back and I don't know what to do, and he cried an why a baby grasshopper cry, Gran. Big tears rolling from his eyes and dropping on the grass blades.

"Well, why don't you go home, and maybe your mama can sew your coat up for you," suggested Tiny Ant, "surely she won't scold you very much after you tell her it was an accident."

"But," sobbed Baby Grasshopper, "I don't know where she is."

"Oh, she's away from home," said Tiny Ant. "Well, now, that is too bad. But, dear me, she'll surely be home in time for dinner."

"No, she won't," sobbed Baby Grasshopper. "I haven't any mama."

"I've never had one; so least, if I ever did have one and I forgot me before I knew anything about it," and Baby Grasshopper sighed so heavily that Tiny Ant felt very sorry for the little fellow.

"Well, I'll tell you what I'll do," she said. "I'll take you to Mr. Taylor Bird's shop and he'll sew it up for you so you can't even tell it has been ripped."

"And I suppose I will not be to pay for his trouble," cried Baby Grasshopper. "No, dear lit.

Tiny Ant and Baby Grasshopper had reached the little house where they found Cheery Cricket, Mr. Taylor Bird, the Ant-bubbles.

Tiny Ant told him Baby Grasshopper's trouble, and when Cherry Cricket saw the ripped vest, he scrutinized the tiny sad Baby Grasshopper on the head.

"Why, you silly little fellow!" he laughed. "Don't you know that you'll never be a full-fledged grasshopper until you have changed your coat six times?"

"What's that?" cried Tiny Ant.

"Just what I said!" replied Cherry Cricket. "If you'll notice closely, Mr. Grasshopper hasn't any wings like his parents. He won't have until he has had his sixth suit. The thing to do is to tell that old suit of his to be torn right off to purpose. If you had not a mama she could have saved you, dears, for your mother did all she could for you.

"Last fall she dug a little hole in the ground with her egg-layer, put in leaves, covered them with a sticky fluid, which formed a hard case to protect them, and covered up the hole with dirt. The warm spring sun had to do the rest. Just take off your suit and don't worry, when you rip the next one," and, chirping merrily, Cherry Cricket covered up the hole.

Baby Grasshopper wiped his eyes, and a bit sad to see his old suit go, but enough just to Cheery Cricket had so Cherry Cricket was a brand-new green suit.

No Wrinkles at Forty

WRINKLES tell others how old you are. They destroy a woman's youthful looks before she knows it.

Those dreadful lines can be avoided and removed with little trouble and slight expense.

Try this simple formula—"A little CREME ELCAYA rubbed gently into the skin; then if you need color, a very little rouge (used sparingly over the cheekbones) will make it look fine and after that the film of Elcaya face powder over all."

CRÊME ELCAYA

is a delightful, non-greasy, disappearing toilet cream that makes the skin like velvet.

Your dealer has ELCAYA and has sold it for years. Ask him. In Jars at 30c and 60c

JAMES C. CRANE, Sole Agent
Cream Elcaya Elcaya Rouge
Elcaya Face Powder
148 Madison Ave., New York

Perfect Food

Home-made bread—plenty of butter—here is the food, standby of the world since the Bible designated bread as the staff of life.

And now easier to provide than now, with modern perfected flour. Ask for one of the STAR brands and you will be proud of your biggest, whitest, more crusty loaves—be able to make lighter cake and biscuits, more delicious pastry.

New-Way
Ambrosia
Galveston
Belle Tidal Wave
Anita

TEXAS STAR FLOUR MILLS
The Largest Wheat and Corn Products Factory in the Southwest
Daily Capacity 8000 Barrels
Established 1878 For sale by all first-class grocers. Galveston, Texas

THE SPANISH PATIO
San Antonio's Most Famed Dining Spot
NOW OPEN
The Menger
"Home the Old South meets the Ritz-Plus"
Phone C. 6128 for Reservations

THE Gunter Hotel
in the heart of the city and the traveling public.
The Cafe
The ideal dining place. Perfectly ventilated, open on two sides to the great outdoors.
PERY TURNBULL, Mgr.

Dancing Tonight
Where the cool, fragrant breath of the Gulf Breeze first kisses the city.
The St. Anthony Roof Garden
T. B. BAKER
President and Gen. Mgr.
Phone Crockett 7700 for Reservations.

Keep An Extra Pair of Eyeglasses Handy

This will save you from loss of time and inconvenience should you break them, say on Sunday or in the country.

—Let us fit that extra pair!

Hertzberg's
"At the Sign of the Clock"

Blum's
The Exclusive Specialty Shop for Women Apparel

Friday---A Sensational Three-Hour Sale of

MILLINERY

Starts at 9 A. M. Closes at 12 M.

250 Beautiful Spring and Mid-Summer Hats Must Go in Three Hours

Milans
Leghorns
Ribbon
Maline
Taffeta
Georgette

$3.95

Roll from the Face Hats, Medium Sailors, Polks, Flop Brims Chin Chins, and Many Others

Values Up to $20.00

This is without a doubt the greatest value offering of the season. You can't help but find the hat you want.

Copyright © 2025 Newspapers.com. All Rights Reserved.